

Joint Programmes: Too many Cooks in the Kitchen?

Challenges for Accreditation, Recognition and Transparency

10-11 June 2010, University of Graz, Austria

Programme

Programme

Programme

Programme

Venue

Venue

Travel Guide

Social Programme

Social Programme

Social Programme

no conference fee

Questions?
Contact Stephanie Zwiessler
stephanie.zwiessler@bmwf.gv.at

YOU ARE...

- a coordinator of a joint programme which has to undergo several national quality assurance procedures and you want to reduce the administrative burden?
- dealing with recognition matters regarding degrees awarded by joint programmes and you don't know whether the degree is recognised in all the participating countries?
- working in a quality assurance agency and you think that multiple accreditation procedures are double work?
- working in a ministry dealing with legal issues?
- enrolled in a joint programme and you want to know how your degree is recognised throughout Europe?

YOU GET...

- * a methodology for a single accreditation procedure of joint programmes
- * a method to improve the recognition of degrees awarded for joint programmes
- * a method for facilitating curricula development for joint programmes
- * parallel workshops which present experiences from joint accreditation procedures on five selected European Joint Programmes
- * an online database (Qcrossroads) which provides data on accredited programmes and facilitates the mutual recognition of qualifications and accreditation decisions

REGISTER HERE

About ECA: The European Consortium for Accreditation in Higher Education aims for the mutual, cross-border recognition of accreditation and quality assurance decisions. The close cooperation between the currently 16 members from 11 countries facilitates mutual learning and disseminating best practices in accreditation. This conference disseminates the results of ECA's TEAM II project which is funded by the European Commission.

